

Leaders: Take a moment to sit quietly allowing everyone to get settled and catch their breath. If you need tissues, there are boxes available around the room.

Ask the following questions of each person in the group:

- What did you feel during Cross the Line?
- Tell us about a problem you are dealing with right now. You don't have to give all the details, but share a part of your story.
- What have you learned today that could change the way you live?
- What is one question you wish your parents would ask you? (Leaders take notes)

Leaders, if participants reveal issues in which you could be hurt, or someone else could be hurt, please discretely mark their names on the attendance list. At the close of the workshop you will be asked if there are students who need immediate follow-up and you can explain your comments at that time.
